Warn Babs' Count: Don't Carry Gun!

Welansky Cleared as Breen Killer

The Suffolk County grand jury today refused to indict James Welansky, former night club proprietor and hotel manager, held without bail since May 26, as alleged slayer of David J. "Beano" Breen.

Breen was shot to death December 17, 1937, in the lobby of a hotel in the theater district.

Immediately after the grand jury had returned its "no bill" finding, Welansky was brought to Suffolk Superior court from Charles Street jail.

Judge Walter L. Collins formally dismissed the murder charge against him, but held him in $5000 as a material witness, at request of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Hickey.

The bail was furnished, in cash, and Welansky was released.

His original arrest, in May, was on a surprise murder warrant issued by Municipal Court Judge Charles L. Carr.

In a statement read by its foreman today, the grand jury indicated a "John Doe" murder indictment would be returned.

The statement, in part said:

"The members of the grand jury, after very intensive deliberation and examination of more than 30 witnesses, feel the government's case was based mostly on suspicion and that there was insufficient evidence for returning an indictment against James Welansky.

"District Attorney Foley's presentation of evidence was very fair, thorough and exhaustive.

"We think it is not within our province to comment on Judge Charles L. Carr's action at all."

Cleared—Suffolk County grand jury today refused to indict former night-club proprietor, James Welansky, in slaying of David J. "Beano" Breen.

Budge Downs Austin for Title

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 1 (INS)—Don Budge, the California comet of the tennis world, won his third national tennis title this year when he defeated Bunny Austin of England for the British title today.

With the eyes of Dowager Queen Mary, the Duke and Duchess of Kent and a packed stadium upon him, the slender American stormed his way through to a 6—1, 6—0, 6—3 victory.

Carroll Wife Witness on Both Sides

By JAMES J. DELANEY
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

SOUTH PARIS, Me., July 1—Defense Counsel Clyde H. Chapman declared today that Mrs. Ruby Carroll "probably" would testify in behalf of her husband, former Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll, when he goes to trial here July 25 for the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield.

Although the former deputy sheriff's wife and his 18-year-old daughter, Barbara, are summoned as state witnesses, Chapman expressed confidence that their testimony would aid, rather than damage the defendant.

His assertion followed a 45-minute visit the mother and daughter paid the accused man in Oxford county jail.

"I've always thought I married a pretty good boy," Mrs. Carroll stated. "I don't know that

Heiress Claims Her Life in Peril

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 1—Count Kurt von Haugwitz-Reventlow assured a police court magistrate he never intended bodily harm to his wife, the former Barbara Hutton.

He appeared pale and grim and his fingers twitched as he faced the Woolworth heiress' charges in Bow street.

The assurance, made by the count through his attorney, accompanied definite revelation for the first time of the exact nature of the charge brought against her husband by the countess.

Court records disclosed that the

Rice Paper Pledge to Pope:

Jap Bombers Kill Hundreds

HONGKONG, July 1 (INS)—In one of the most horrible bombings of the year-old war, nine Japanese warplanes tonight killed hundreds of civilians in the south China port of Swatow.

The raid came within 24 hours of Japan's promise to Pope Pius that bombings of civilians would cease.

The Japanese flew at such a great height that accurate aim was impossible, and their deadly missiles burst haphazardly in the crowded streets. More then 100 bombs were dropped.

For two hours the bombers wheeled overhead, driving the 180,000 inhabitants wild with terror as explosion after explosion shook the city.

Hundreds more were wounded, and wide areas were wrecked.

The attack was one of a series visited on Swatow, which followed a warning dropped from the air on the port, that raids would be intensified if Chinese resistance continued.

Spain, Too, Breaks Word on Bombings

MADRID, July 1 (INS)—Insurgent air raiders early today bombed the town of Segorbe, killing 16 persons and injuring 80, according to a Reuters dispatch.

The raid came only a few hours after Generalissimo Francisco Franco, through his envoy to the Vatican, promised Pope Pius to reduce the horror of the civil war.

Barcelona was also darkened by a midnight air raid alarm, the dispatch said. Flashes were seen in the southern quarters of the city but no further details were given.

Just before Franco's new envoy had assured Pope Pius, insurgent planes bombed the suburb of Badalona in one of the most ferocious raids to date.

More than 200 bombs were dropped and many persons killed or injured. Rescuers are still digging in the ruins of shattered buildings and the full total of tragedy can only be estimated.

(The London Daily Express said in a Barcelona dispatch that about 75 civilians were known to have been killed and about 85 injured.)

The raid was participated in by 10 huge bombers.

U. S., Japs Halt Super Ship Plan

By ROBERT G. NIXON

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1—The tremendous cost of Japan's war on China has forced that nation to halt construction of three new 46,000-ton super-battleships, according to information reaching high official circles here.

For this reason, International News Service learned today, President Roosevelt has decided not to launch at this time the United States on a program of matching these super-dreadnaughts.

Thus the reason for launching the greatest world-wide naval armaments race ever known had temporarily disappeared today.

LIMIT SCRAPPED

The United States, Great Britain and France have just signed a new agreement scrapping the 35,000-ton limitation that has been in effect on capital ships since the Washington disarmament conference in 1922.

The United States, on April 1, because of reports that Japan was exceeding the 35-000-ton limitation and building the largest battleships ever to ride the waves, invokes the escalator clause in the London naval treaty of 1936 which held the three democracies to the limitation.

It became effective with the signing of a protocol between the three countries yesterday fixing the new limitation at 45,000 tons and its armaments at 16-inch guns. Nothing even approaching this size had ever been built with exception of Britain's 42,000-ton Hood.

ONLY DELAYS PLAN

The United States, against British and French opposition, insisted the limitation be lifted to 45,000 tons and compromised on 16-inch guns, although plans were being considered for 18-inch weapons.

President Roosevelt's decision not to begin immediate building of 45,000-ton super battleships does not, International News Service was informed, in any wise mean that their construction has been abandoned. It simply has been found that the press of the necessity has been, for the time being, removed by Japan's economic plight.

Utilities, Rail Shares Given Upward Whirl

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP) — Laggards in Wall Street's mid-year bull parade darted to the front today to catch up with the main procession toward higher prices.

Electric power shares were whirled up a few cents to around $2 a share as the speculative action shifted to the backward groups to keep the market pot boiling. Rails also moved to the front.

Many traders, however, preferred to take advantage of the bulges to cash in profits, and this selling was a drag on the advance.

Advances in copper and lead stimulated fresh interest in raw materials, and another wave of buying in the afternoon lifted major commodities. Some cotton futures rose above nine cents a pound for the first time on the mid-year upturn.

Recovery in commodity prices was watched in brokerage quarters as a key to industrial expansion in coming months.

Hailed as a straw showing the way the business winds were blowing was announcement by Kennecott Copper, leading domestic producer, it expected to reopen its Utah mines August 1, giving employment to 3500 men.

Cite Business Gains Here

Business leaders continued today to board the recovery drive band wagon as they warmly endorsed increased buying and large scale employment to stamp out repression.

Everywhere the word was "Get together!"

This note of harmony was sounded by J. P. Alexander, New England district manager, Westinghouse Electric and Mandfacturing Company, who told the Boston Evening American:

"I am glad to note recent indications of a greater degree of cooperation between government and business, because I feel sure that a sound and permanent business recovery depends on these two major economic forces working in close harmony for the common good.

"Such harmony is imperative because no one agency alone can 'prime the business pump' and American business is waiting to spend large sums for improvement and expansion as soon as it is assured of government cooperation.

Millions for Improvements

"Acting on the faith of future government-business cooperation, Westinghouse has already embarked on a program of spending in order to contribute its share toward a return of prosperity and employment.

"During this year, Westinghouse will spend $12,000,000 for plant improvements and additions.

"Our new $500,000 Service Shop and Warehouse in South Boston, just completed and opened this month, is ample evidence in our faith in future business conditions in this city.

"Another $1,000,000 is now being spent in East Springfield to enlarge our plant in that city and construction projects are planned or underway in five other states.

"I believe it is this type of spending on which real recovery must be based, because in addition to the temporary work on construction, it provides permanent employment for thousands in the new factories and offices."

President E. H. Fresbrey, of Kennedy's Inc., Boston retail clothiers, said:

"People are gradually buying more freely, with an eye to the future. Whether this is due to the fact that their wardrobes have been so reduced the past few months of sparse buying, or, whether it is a forerunner of better business for the fall, is difficult to predict as present.

Buying Move Is Spreading

"It seems safe to assume, however, that the present flurry will of necessity project itself into a wave of stronger buying early in the fall owing to the rotation of employment and spending that will set it into motion."

The Washington Jewelry Company reported excellent June business in a statement which predicted that steadily increasing sales would boost company business from 33 to 50 per cent over that of last year.

Officials said buyers are now away in the markets with orders to increase their volume of buying, with special view to fall promotions.

It was further said that in spite of the recession, the company has retained its personnel almost intact and that no pay cuts had been put into effect.

Hurley, Solons In Sit Strike

The "waiting game" currently being played by Governor Hurley and his State legislature reached an impasse today when the governor announced he would not submit his supplemental budget until the legislature acted on his mental diseases and unemployment relief measures.

As the members waited quietly at home, their dockets cleared of pending measures, Hurley made the announcement through his secretary. Yesterday his $17,000,000 work-relief appropriation was rejected by the House, as were several subsequent compromise offers.

WHEN WIDOWS FROLIC

Slipper-Tossing Stunt Starts Day Of Fun for 500

NORTH COHOCTON, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—It started as a joke—this widows' and widowers' party—but some 500 took it seriously and attended.

From the time the widows tossed out their slippers in the afternoon until a band played the last dance in the park pavilion, widows and widowers romped at nearby Loon lake.

The slipper tossing was a "get acquainted" stunt. Each widow took off one slipper and threw it on a pile. Each widower picked a slipper and hunted for its mate.

That started the program of baseball, roller skating, water sports, games, dinner and dancing.

Dinner was "on" the widows—their invitations had requested they bring silver for two and the dish each felt herself best at preparing.

The party broke up late last night after participants seriously discussed making it an annual outing.

John West, 88, of Rochester, was the oldest widower present and Mrs. Ada Vogt, 29, of Cohocton the youngest widow.

Lying, waiting, and—smiling.

That's tiny Jeanette Taylor, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Taylor of Dover street, South End, who's in the children's ward at Boston City Hospital.

Jeanette was playing with a nickel in the yard of her home when—pop!—the first thing she knew she'd swallowed it.

A neighbor, Mrs. Charlotte Pardee, took the gasping little girl to the hospital. Today Jeanette was X-rayed to determine whether she should be operated on.

This afternoon she was waiting for the doctors' decision.

Rich Sub-Deb Racing Queen

"CORONATION" PARTY—Emily McLean, daughter of Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean of Washington, will be given a $100,000 "coronation" party by her mother when she takes over the McLean race horse stable, July 17.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 1—Racing, the traditional sport of kings, soon is to become the sport of at least one American dollar princess—young sub-debbie Emily McLean, daughter of Washington socialite and multimillionairess, Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, owner of the famous Hope diamond.

Emily, according to plans indicated today, is to have a "coronation" party as "queen of the American turf" on July 17, at which time she will receive the gift of a string of the finest racehorses in the country. The party itself, to be staged at the McLean estate here in Newport, is expected to cost $100,000.

Emily's racing colors will be those of the Hope diamond—magic blue and white. Her insignia will be a representation of the Hope diamond itself.

Plans for Emily's debut were announced in April. She will be introduced to society in August, it was stated at that time.

Ousted G-Man Flays Writings of Hoover

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Leon G. Turrou, former G-man, said he had "no recollection" of having signed a statement in 1935 in which he promised to "write nothing or give out no information about FBI."

"I am certain the statement was signed at the same time that a number of other papers were presented to me for my signature," Turrou said in a statement last night. "Believing it to be one of several official documents requiring my signature, I signed it."

"I have read scores of articles . . . written by Mr. Hoover (J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI) while he was directing the FBI, articles advertised as being taken from the secret files of the FBI, articles for which Mr. Hoover was highly paid, and articles, which, I believe, were valuable to the nation-at-large in exposing bad criminal conditions and which brought about better public co-operation.

"However, if Mr. Hoover now proposes to hold me firmly to a statement signed casually, while he continues to secure a huge income from his own writings in addition to his salary from the government, I shall take steps at once to see that these rules about writing are applied equally to all members of the FBI, from the lowliest agent to the director himself."

Mail Carrier Rescues Girl

If Fred Guariglia, a mail carrier, was late delivering his letters today, the reason is that he took time out to rescue a 13-year-old girl from drowning.

Edna Peterson of Fairmont avenue, Hyde Park, fell from a raft into Neponset river.

Postman Guariglia heard her screams, dropped his mail-pouch, and plunged in to save the child. Edna was taken home by the police.

The one-year moratorium on the 1 per cent employe tax, paid into the Massachusetts Compensation Insurance fund, went into effect today.

Dog Gone on Cats! Terrier Adopts Kittens

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP)—Nipper, a tiny fox terrier, jealously guarded today three kittens she "kidnapped" from a nearby house.

She squeezed through her private swinging panel in a rear screen door last Sunday and stole the kittens while her master, Louis Abrams, was away.

Carrying them gently in her mouth she brought them home—one by one—and placed them in a living room chair.

There Abrams found her. And there she has remained since, scorning food and all visitors.

So jealously does she guard her adopted charges, Abrams said, that she bit two of his children when they ventured too close.

Shootin' Gold In Them Hills Not So Loony

CHICAGO, July 1 (INS)—Eccentric but not insane was the way an alienist characterized the idea of Oswald Wolf, 59, to end the depression.

Wolf, on trial for the murder of his wife, had pleaded insanity. In support of his contention attorneys offered his suggestion that all the country's gold be ground up and blasted at the mountains to start a new gold rush.

Dr. R. A. Jefferson, however, testified:

"I have heard of many strange schemes to create prosperity. I would say Wolf's idea is eccentric but not the product of an insane mind."

A HOAX GIRL'S LOVE

Leads Va. Mystery Miss to Merrimac In Fourth Flight

MERRIMAC, July 1—"I came here because I was in love with—someone."

Caroline Musante, 18, of Fredericksburg, Va., was found here today and that's how she explained her fourth disappearance from home, police said.

Between 1933 and 1935, Caroline was allegedly kidnaped three times; but twice Federal Bureau of Investigation agents found her tied to a tree within a few miles of her home.

Virginia Circuit Judge F. W. Coleman described her first disappearance as a "hoax," and the second a "frameup."

The third time her father, Leo Musante, said he received a note demanding $1500 "or we'll send your daughter's head back to you," but he refused to show the note to anyone.

Federal men investigated that case, too; and they were called for the fourth time a month ago, for Caroline again was missing from home.

Merrimac police today said Caroline had been living here with relatives of a man who is now in Washington.

Federal officers said the case was under investigation.

Arline Judge, Husband Hurt

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Beauteous Arline Judge of the movies and her sportsman-socialite husband, Dan Topping, were in a hospital today as the result of an auto accident last night in Central Park.

Topping, part owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers professional football team, suffered a severed tendon in his right ankle. Mrs. Topping sustained only minor bruises but stayed in the hospital to be near her husband.

Veterans Recall Civil War's End

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 1 (INS)—Three score and 15 years ago, this day brought Gettysburg the beginning of a bloody war's end. Today it marked the beginning of another end for 2000 Civil War veterans—their "last reunion."

Chance brought the battle of musketry and the clash of sabre into Gettysburg streets on July 1, 1863. But today, the 75th anniversary of the first day of fighting, peacetime preparations by state and federal commissions culminated in "reunion days," opening a commemorative week-end for the Blue and the Gray.

Gov. George H. Earle, Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, and the G. A. R. and United Confederate Veterans' commander-in-chief headlined the day's formal program in Gettysburg College stadium.

MEMORIES OF OAK RIDGE

Memories that three-quarters of a century have dulled but little turned out tales of how the July 1 conflict surged from Oak Ridge through the town of Cemetery Hill.

On Oak Ridge, not far from where President Roosevelt will dedicate the new "Eternal Peace" memorial on Sunday, a Confederate sniper's bullet killed General J. F. Reynolds early that first day.

The Union retreat that began then did not end until dusk, when Yankee lines reformed in a "fish-hook" front from Culp's Hill to Little Round Top, overlooking the scene of Pickett's "suicide charge" two days later.

William Jackaway, 97, of Philadelphia, a member of the 72nd Pennsylvania Volunteers, fought at his brother's side in the repulsion of that charge.

OPENED WITH CANISTER

He recalled how Pickett's men came out of Spangler's Woods in "division front" skirted a house in left oblique formation, then moved with measured tread toward the waiting Union cannon and muskets.

"I judge we waited 'til they were a square away before we opened fire," said Jackaway who was stationed just on the edge of "Bloody Angle."

"Then we opened canister on them." Canister, the equivalent of modern shrapnel, tore gaps in Pickett's line up until it reached to the cannon mouths.

"It was hand to hand fighting from then on," he continued, tracing the battle line with a twig. "As the rebels came up to the wall at Bloody Angle, we shook hands with them to pull them down. That's how close we were."

Did he hear Union troops cheer in admiration of Pickett's courage?

"No, I guess at a time like that all anybody was doing was looking out for himself."

VETERANS OVERCOME

Eighteen veterans today remained under hospital care, most of them resting from the strain of the reunion trip. One, Charles Hammacker, Oledo, Tex., was bed-ridden with a shoulder fracture suffered when he fell from a Pullman berth en route here.

General John M. Claypool, St. Louis, Mo., commander-in-chief of the U. C. V., and Dr. Overton H. Mennet, Los Angeles, head of the G. A. R., were to accompany Governor Earle here.

dining room. Every stateroom was taken.

There was music and laughter and gaiety aboard, and overhead the sky spangled with stars, and the ship blazed with lights. And then——

An excited passenger approached the captain on the bridge.

"There was a man standing aft, on B-deck a while ago," the passenger said. "When I went by there again, just now, I found his hat and coat lying on the deck. The man's gone."

A moment later, the talk ran through the crowded ship—

"We're turning around! What's happened? Where are we going?"

Then the dread cry:

"Man overboard!"

For a full hour, the New York cruised back over the route she just had come. The dance music continued—but on deck members of the crew leaned from the ship's side, scanning the water lighted by the bobbing circles of the ship's searchlights.

No trace of the missing man was found.

Papers bearing Martis' name and address in Fellsway West, Medford, were found in the discarded coat. His wife and daughter, Helen, and son John, a pupil in the Roberts Junior High School, live in Medford, his aged mother in Quincy later explained.

When the New York docked here and all the passengers had claimed their baggage and had disembarked Martis' suitcase remained—unclaimed.

Plan $431,000 School Annexes

Two new school projects at a total cost of $431,000 were agreed upon today at a conference between Mayor Tobin, the school committee and the board of schoolhouse commissioners.

Both call for the erection of eight-room annexes, one at the William Howard Taft school, Brighton, and the other at the High School of Practical Arts, Roxbury.

They will be constructed under PWA auspices, the city contributing the sum of $237,000 to match the federal appropriation.

Probe Killing In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, July 1 (INS)—Police today said a "Dear Daddy" letter from an unnamed Pennsylvania woman might solve the mysterious killing of King D. Gray, 52-year-old film cameraman.

They further disclosed that Gray, found slumped over the wheel in his car in front of the Hollywood postoffice, a bullet wound in his chest, had rented a private postoffice box.

The letter was found in his coat pocket. Police believe Gray had just picked it up when he was shot.

The bullet left no powder burns on his clothing. No gun was found in or near the car.

Gray had $63 in cash on his person, an expensive watch and a diamond Masonic ring.

Babs Charges Life in Peril

charge alleged he was "using threats toward his wife whereby she apprehends that she goes in danger of her life or bodily harm."

WON'T CARRY A GUN

The Count gave verbal assurances that he would not communicate with the Couuntess during the period of his remand and that he would not carry a revolver.

This was the only time he spoke during the entire hearing. The few words were uttered in a low voice.

Otherwise he stood silent and glum in the dock, his gray suit, blue polka-dot tie and brown suede shoes in strange contrast to the grim line of his jaw.

An astute maneuver by the count's attorney prevented the charge from being read out in court at the beginning of the hearing.

COUNT IS NERVOUS

In the brief hearing, the Danish nobleman was granted bail of 1000 pounds ($5000) on his own surety and two other sureties of 500 pounds ($2500) each.

While crowds milled about the grimy courthouse, the Count stood nervously in court and listened to his attorney, Norman Birkett, unfold his case before Magistrate Rollo Campbell.

After bail was granted, the Count's assurances were given and other legal technicalities were completed, the hearing was adjourned until next Tuesday.

Assurance that the nobleman never intended bodily harm to his wife was made by Attorney Birkett in a firm voice.

REPUDIATES CHARGE

"Last week," said Birkett, "Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow attended this court and applied for a warrant which was issued against the count on his alleged threat to do her bodily harm.

"It was then not in possession of the information which had been laid against the count, but on the 29th of June I applied to the court to fix a day so the count, on oath, could repudiate the charge.

"The warrant had not then been executed. I was anxious to spare the count all humiliations necessarily attended upon arrest on a warrant. The police were most helpful and I am pleased to say the count has been spared much of that humiliation.

"I now ask that a date may be fixed so that in the meantime I may be given an opportunity to consult my client.

NO INTENT TO INJURED

"He is prepared to enter into his own recognizances, and there are gentlemen in the court who will stand surety for him.

"I may say the count never had the slightest intention of inflicting bodily harm upon the countess and he will enter into recognizances not to communicate with the countess during the meantime."

Mgistrate Campbell replied:

"If I do grant this remand I shall want an undertaking that the defendant will not interfere with the countess.

"And I shall certainly want additional surety than his own recognizances."

Sir Patrick Hastings, famous attorney, acting for the countess, entered the conversation by remarking:

"It is desirable that in the terms of the remand there should be no communication of the count with the countess."

LICENSE FOR GUN

Sir Patrick also began to mention the question of firearms, whereupon Birkett objected and Hastings persisted:

"The count had a firearm in his possession. He has a license for it."

Birkett hotly replied:

"It is unnecessary to introduce the firearm element. The revolver mentioned is now in the countess' house in Regents Park and has never been in possession of the count for any material time since these proceedings began.

"The count is hearing what I now say to you, and he gives an undertaking that he will not attempt to communicate with the countess or his child (two-year-old Lance).

"Neither will he have in his possession a revolver."

COUNT SPEAKS UP

Thereupon the count, without being asked, spoke up. In a strong Scandinavian accent, but in a low voice, he declared:

"I am willing to give my undertaking to that effect."

He appeared extremely nervous as he uttered the brief sentence.

"That being the case," rejoined Magistrate Campbell, "I will remand the count until next Tuesday under bail on his own recognizance of 1000 pounds and surety for another 1000, or two sureties of 500 pounds each."

After the hearing had been adjourned Birkett said the count's case could be summarized in these words:

"I never made any threats. It is quite foreign and contrary to anything I desire that I should do so. And there is no danger to be apprehended from any source whatever. At the same time I am prepared to do what the court would wish."

Senator Moyse Seeks Re-election

State Senator George C. Moyse of Waltham today announced himself a candidate for re-election.

Friends freely predicted he might be elevated to the Senate presidency at the Legislature's next session.

Witness on Both Sides

I have any real knowledge that should change my mind."

The family reunion was as happy as one in jail could be. All three laughed and joked at times.

Meanwhile, authorities at Thomaston State Prison guarded the health of Paul Dwyer, 18, who is serving a life sentence for the murder on which Carroll now stands accused. Dwyer, a heart disease victim, is given only the lightest of work and has frequent physical examinations.

Frankly skeptical of the stories of young Dwyer, which led to indictment of the former deputy sheriff, Mrs. Carroll today declared she has no actual knowledge of the murder of Dr. Littlefield and his aged wife, Lydia.

"I certainly wouldn't do my husband any harm," Mrs. Carroll said.

Navy Lays Off 4000 WPA Men

Twenty-six hundred Works Progress Administration workers have been laid of until July 11 at Boston navy yard in Charlestown, and some 1400 others are similarly affected at Hingham ammunition depot and Squantum air base, due to failure of funds for the new fiscal years to come through.

About 1000 of the WPA recipients gathered at the navy yard main gates today, some of them claiming they were not notified of the layoff, although yard officials said notice was given last night.

Yard officials said that the workers would be given the opportunity to make up their lost time when work is resumed July 11.

They explained that the layoff was due entirely to the fact that WPA funds from the new fiscal year's appropriations have not been transferred to the yard's books; therefore, it is impossible for the yard to pay the men their WPA wages. A similar condition exists at Squantum and Hingham.

The WPA workers are engaged in work on new ways, building foundation and similar construction projects.

At State WPA headquarters it was explained the "navy WPA" is administered directly out of Washington.

State headquarters, therefore, had no knowledge of the situation, although officials attributed it probably to delay in bookkeeping transfers in Washington.

It was reported the Squantum navy WPA work is virtually completed. Squantum WPA workers automatically will be transferred to state projects, state officials said.

Nuisance Tax List Reduced

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Federal taxes were removed today from a dozen items, such as tooth paste and matches, but the levy was increased on liquor.

The items relieved of "nuisance taxes" beginning last midnight are:

Tooth paste, soaps and other toilet articles, 5 per cent.; furs, 3 per cent; phonograph records, 5 per cent; sporting goods, 10 per cent; cameras and lenses, 10 per cent; chewing gum, 2 per cent, matches, 2 cents per thousand on plain wooden matches and one-half cent per thousand on paper matches.

The tax on newly manufactured liquor was increased from $5 to $2.25 a gallon.

Indians Carry McCormick Body Down Cliffs

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 1 (AP)—Indians climbed jagged, knifelike Sandia peak today to return the body of Medill McCormick, 21-year-old scion of a politico-publishing family, to the heart-broken mother who learned of his fate just after she had renewed hope he was alive.

The Indians, who had searched the steep, mile-high Sandia peak eight days for McCormick, came upon his body yesterday on a lonely cliff deep in the heart of the mountains.

MOTHER IN COLLAPSE

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, Medill's mother, went to bed in her palatial ranch home immediately upon receiving the news. She was in a state of nervous collapse.

Until two days ago she kept an almost sleepless vigil at a base camp.

Only yesterday, when most of the searchers had quit the Sandias after intensive surveys had failed to disclose any trace of McCormick, hope that he lived had been renewed.

Just a few hours later, Frank C. W. Pooler, U. S. regional forester, announced finding the body.

ALL-DAY CORTEGE

Parties of sturdy Indians and U. S. forest service workers began at daybreak the long, hazardous journey to bring the remains back to the Albuquerque home he left June 22 on an ill-fated climbing expedition.

Veteran mountaineers said it would be late today before the shattered form could be brought out, so remote was the spot on which it lay.

Fire's Revenge For Put-Outs

The proficiency of Boston firefighters attached to Ladder 10 and Engine 28 underwent unexpected scrutiny today when they answered a still alarm to a 2½-story residence in Arborway, Jamaica Plain.

You could have knocked the sturdy lads over with a fly-swatter when, on arriving at the blaze, they found Fire Commissioner William A. Reilly waiting on the steps to direct them to the fire in the attic of the house.

Yes, you've guessed it. It was the commissioner's home and he personally estimated damage of $2000 as the result of a short circuit and consequent fire in an attic closet.

Traffic Heavy For Holidays

Travelers by thousands moved out of Boston today by car, train, plane and boat, bound for vacation spots over the Fourth of July week-end.

Highways throughout the state were jammed with traffic almost 50 per cent above normal.

Railroads put on extra sections and special trains, boat accommodations were filled, and special planes were running.

Cinders in His Eyes

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt had to have some cinders taken out of his eyes today on an automobile ride from Hyde Park to New York. While the train stopped to wait for a freight train to roll down the tracks at a grade crossing, a billow of cinder-laden smoke wafted across the car.

A medical aide applied eye wash.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt wore his bodyguard's hat on his motor trip to New York.

Preparing to leave home for the metropolis, the chief executive couldn't find his panama.

He started to leave bareheaded. Then Tom Qualters (Somerville, Mass.) offered his chief his own headgear.

Call War Heads In British Probe

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—High ranking officers of Britain's army and permanent officials of the war office are expected to be summoned before the select committee of the House of Commons which today prepared to investigate the rights of members of Parliament to secrets of the national defense.

At least part of the inquiry into Duncan Sandy's charges that Attorney General Sir Donald Bradley Somervell threatened him with prosecution under the official secrets act—Britain's law against spies—will be heard in public.

It was Sandy's possession of a document of "highest secrecy" from which he proposed a Parliamentary interrogation of War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha to reveal alleged defects in the nation's vital air defense which precipitated the clash between Commons and army.

Hore-Belisha and Sandys, 30-year-old son-in-law of Winston Churchill and one of the "glamor boys" of Commons who support Anthony Eden, the former foreign minister, were expected to be star witnesses.

Sir John Gilmour, former home secretary, was expected to be chosen chairman of the powerful board of 14 members.

The chairman's order to appear before the committee has the force of a subpoena.

Those summoned will not have the benefit of legal representatives without the express permission of Parliament. Refusal to appear, produce documents or answer questions will be contempt of Parliament, punishable by imprisonment.

'Hitlerized' By New Deal Avers Lodge

PLYMOUTH, July 1—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., charged the Roosevelt administration with "utter heartlessness" in its social security program during a speech before 1500 persons in Memorial building.

Lodge, speaking at the annual dinner of the Plymouth Republican Club, maintained that the administration acted in poor faith by diverting part of social security money for general costs of government.

"When the money is taken for old-age security, it should be securely nailed down so that those who pay it can have it back when they reach old age," Lodge declared.

He charged the administration had "Hitlerized" him when he attempted in the Senate to have the tax reduced or the benefits increased.

Other speakers included Leverett Saltonstall and Frederick Butler, candidates for governor; Frederic W. Cook, secretary of state; Horace T. Cahill, speaker of the House of Representatives; Russell A. Wood, candidate for state auditor; Congressmen Richard B. Wigglesworth and Charles L. Gifford, and Governor's Councillor Edgar S. Lindsay.

Austria to Pay On British Debt

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—An announcement that British and German negotiators had reached an agreement on Austrian external loans was made today by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer.

Sir John told the House of Commons that "without prejudice to the question of legal liability, the German government will reimburse the United Kingdom government for any sums paid in respect of their (Britain's) guarantees of the Austrian guaranteed loans and will insure full service of the bonds of these loans owned by British holders on July 1, 1938."

Defaults on payments on Austrian bond issues since Germany's annexation of Austria have brought protests from the United States, Britain, France and other countries.

Navy Honors Panay Heroes

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Navy honored with decorations and citations today 24 officers and men of the gunboat Panay, bombed and sunk by the Japanese last December 12.

Secretary Swanson addressed a letter of appreciation to Lieutenant-Commander James J. Hughes, wounded while in command of the Yangtze river patrol boat.

The Navy cross went to two other officers and 21 enlisted men, including one "for extraordinary heroism" to Lieutenant Arthur F. Anders of Weimar, Tex., who gave orders in writing after he was wounded in the throat.

One of the awards to enlisted men, all for heroism, was posthumous. It was to Edgar William George Hulsebus, coxswain, of Canton, Mo. Among enlisted men given Navy crosses was Maurice David Rider, coxswain, Southampton, Mass.

Fascists Do Tricks For Duce, 4 Hurt

ROME, July 1 (AP)—Four Fascist party chiefs were injured today attempting to show Premier Mussolini their gymnastic ability.

Two federal secretaries fell on points of bayonets over which they were trying to jump from a springboard.

Another was scorched leaping through a ring of fire.

A party inspector landed on top of a tank and injured his chest.

Honor July 4 'Dead'

PACKANACK LAKE, N. J., July 1 (AP)—Although premature and anticipatory, this community conducted a "memorial service" today for "the Americans who will be killed in action during the next four days celebrating their independence."

Harry Daniels, president of the Packanack Lake Dramatic Club placed a wreath on a stone marker inscribed "In Memoriam, Victims of July Fourth, 1938."

The service also included a prayer for highway and fireworks casualties "expected throughout the nation," and taps were sounded as the flag over the country club was lowered to half staff.

"We hope in this way," said Daniels, "to stop in some measure the annual July Fourth toll throughout the states."

Hurley Urges Sane Fourth

Governor Hurley today called on the citizens of Massachusetts to celebrate the Fourth of July safely and sanely, with a warning that July is the worst automobile fatality month in the year. The governor urged careful driving, sane use of fireworks and caution while in swimming.

Fireworks displays will be staged in nine parts of the city at 10 o'clock, Monday night as a conclusion to the holiday celebrations. Police have been warned to keep hospital areas quiet and prevent use of illegal fireworks.

The fireworks displays will take place at Boston Common; Jamaica Pond, Jamaica Plain; Columbus Park, South Boston; Smith Field, Brighton; Franklin Field, Dorchester; Billings Field, West Roxbury; Savin Hill Playground, Dorchester; Healy Park, West Roxbury, and Ronan Park, Dorchester.

Rep. Rogers Would Aid Vets' Widows

LOWELL, July 1—Representative Edith Nourse Rogers today urged Frank T. Hines, national veterans' administrator, to return files of deceased veterans to local bureaus, making them more accessible to widows seeking pensions.

Under present regulations, she said, it is difficult for widows to get the data from Washington required to make pension application.

Dollar Line Heir Reveals Wedding

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Stuart Dollar, 26, grandson of Capt. Robert Dollar, founder of the Dollar Steamship Lines, disclosed today he was married last Monday to Miss Wilma Peterson, 23, of Chicago.

Dollar, who came from San Francisco last September to work in the steamship company's offices, said the ceremony was performed by a justice of the peace in Knox, Ind.

Important N. E. Industry Gains

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

Latest trade reports on New England definitely indicate that the industries on which this section is dependent are improving. Cotton and woolen textiles are doing better and shoe and leather lines are making customary seasonal gains. With improvement registered in these vital industries, observers feel miscellaneous lines will soon perk up.

Finished cotton statistics are still the outstanding bright spot, with estimates placing recent reductions in mill stocks at 33 1-3 per cent. Price advances have helped and, while sentiment is buoyed by the higher levels prevailing, it is noted mills are slow in starting up since they can not yet see any hope for a fair profit.

The situation in the woolen trade is somewhat different with orders still at a low ebb, albeit inquiries have increased and prices are slightly higher. Shoe manufacturers are finding solace in reports from retailers that there is an active call for fancy lines, while staple models are in moderate demand.

CAUTION—DANGER AHEAD

Astute stock market observers turned exceedingly cautious early yesterday morning. They professed to see in the hectic trading and erratic price movements all the signs usually visible when there is danger ahead. While admitting that public enthusiasm is at such a high pitch that even higher levels may be attained, they are withdrawing from what has become nothing more than competition to own stocks.

* * *

The question that most of the analysts want answered is where is there a likely stopping place for this phase of the upturn. While our levels have been exceeded by industrials, rails fell somewhat short of the mark and the highs set so far as acceptable tops. A few sessions spent mulling around them will just about clinch the argument, provided volume remains high.

STATE ST. NOTEBOOK

The wheat market, which can claim most of the credit for starting the upturn in prices is failing by the wayside . . . No longer do values exhibit a tendency to push higher when buying interest shows . . . Crop conditions are still favorable to higher levels . . . So conservatives are wondering if the force that started things humming is ready to act as a brake.

* * *

Textile shares are being watched very carefully . . . With the idea spreading that in the event of a general decline the better mills should be bought . . . Particularly if cloth prices stand up well . . . That is applicable more to cotton than woolens and worsteds . . . Shoe and allied industries should be given notice also . . . They are perhaps farther along than most consumer's goode trades.

Hopkins Faces Call by Walsh

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Senate campaign funds committee may call Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator, to testify about contentions that relief money has been used for political purposes.

Senator Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, a committee member, said today he thought sooner or later the committee should invite Hopkins to appear before it.

Cleared in Auto Death in Dracut

LOWELL, July 1 (AP)—District Court Judge Patrick J. Reynolds today acquitted Raymond J. Roy, 22, of Manchester, N. H., of manslaughter in the death of Daniel J. Higgins, 36, a deaf mute, who was killed by an automobile in Dracut, June 22.

A charge of operating to endanger against Roy was continued until July 5.

$150,000 Bond Issue Approved

The state emergency finance board today placed its seal of approval on a $150,000 bond issue for the city of Somerville to be used to cover the July-to-October expenses.

Also approved by the state was a $25,000 bond issue for welfare.

'Deal' Must Be Checked Declares Haney

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University
Special to Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, July 1—Letters keep coming in from people who are interested in the idea of an organization to represent the middle class—the class which stands for moderation, experience, thrift, individualism, and local self-government.

I am afraid that the turn in the stock market and the stimulation of business which is likely to be felt as a result of heavy government spending, will dull the feeling of fear which lies back of these letters.

Usually it takes an emergency to get the great body of middle class folks aroused. When the emergency passes, they disband, and each tends to his own business.

That has always been the spirit of America. It is the way our democracy works.

But at least it is plain that middle class groups have been formed all over the country, as there arose the emergency of packing the Supreme Court and of the "government reorganization bill."

These organizations, I hope, will be kept intact. It is by no mean certain that Mr. Roosevelt (as President) will not resume his dictatorial methods as soon as the November elections are over.

Furthermore, Mr. Roosevelt (as the boss of his party) is leading and sanctioning the worst case of wholesale bribing of the voters of the nation which has occurred in all our history.

All the middle class organizations should fight this evil in their states. It is worse than mere waste of money. It tends to destroy our democracy.

The abuse of "relief" by a vicious political machine at Washington, should be the basis for rallying middle class organizations this summer.

Two more organizations have written to me describing their plans and methods.

"The defenders," with headquarters in New York city, have done effective work in fighting for the Constitution. It is probably the largest organization, claiming 200,000 members scattered over the whole country.

They have been active in organizing resistance to the Roosevelt "must bills," some of which have been defeated, and some greatly moderated. Their spirit is this:

"To drive home to the masses of the people the fact that "the American way" is the best way—that law and order must prevail—that private initiative must again be encouraged—that government meddling and 'taking sides' must cease."

NO STEEL PAY CUTS

WASHINGTON, July 1 (INS)—No cuts in wages are contemplated by Republic Steel, Tom Girdler, chairman of the board, said here today.

Dog Is Key In Cement Death Quiz

NORTHAMPTON, July 1—A pedigreed dog, valued at $500, may be a "witness" against John Paul Bathelt, Jr., held here on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Charles Morris, whose cement-encased body was found in the Connecticut river.

The dog, formerly the property of Morris, has been found in New York in possession of a woman Checking back on Bathlet's Park avenue apartment, police say they have been informed he had the dog there last year.

Also, they say, they have found a dog fancier who told them Bathelt offered to sell the dog for $500.

The dog, "Norbert," has been lodged with the S. P. C. A., to be called for as an "exhibit" before the grand jury.

Bathelt, in a cell here, awaited arrival of his ex-actress wife, Mrs. Marguerite Bathelt, who came from New York despite a broken leg.

Indict 3 In Phillips Death, Fourth Sought

Indictments charging Wallace W. Green, 21, and Walter St. Sauveur, 19, with first-degree murder in connection with the slaying of William Phillips, Somerville storekeeper, were returned before Judge Wilford D. Gray by the Middlesex County grand jury after a special session today.

Another indictment was returned, charging Henry Richards, 21, with being an accessory after the fact to the murder.

Still another "John Doe" indictment was returned, indicating for the first time that authorities believe there may be a fourth man in the case.

Richards and St. Sauveur both were named in earlier murder indictments yesterday. This prior indictment against Richards, it was explained, will stand in addition to the accessory charge returned against his today.

Al three youths wer to be arraigned before Judge Gray to plead to the new indictments later this afternoon.

St. Sauveur asked Judge Gray to appoint counsel for him, claiming he is without funds. Judge Gray named former Assistant Attorney-General George B. Lourie.

Lieutenant Daniel M. O'Connell and Captain Charles J. Van Amberg, state ballistics expert, were the first witness called.

NAVY YARD AIDE HERE

Lieut. Douglas V. Gledding, new aide to the Commander of the First Naval District, arrived today at Boston Navy Yard, where he will take up his new duties on next Wednesday. He succeeds Lieut. Roy D. Williams, who goes to the West Coast.

Man-Eater Goes 'Nuts'!

Man-eating tigers in India and man-eating sharks in the Indian Ocean are fairly commonplace, but it has remained for Dorchester to furnish the world with a man-eating squirrel.

The carnivorous nut-cracker was captured by Robert Driscoll of Morrill street after it had eluded traps for three weeks and had bitten several children and grownups.

James Bent, 21, a neighbor of Driscoll, was bitten on the forearm by the intrepid Tarzan of the Dorchester tree tops and required medical treatment.

According to Driscoll, the furry-tailed animal, while cavorting in the neighborhood of the Columbia rapid transit station, swooped down from trees to bite passers-by or raced across the street, nipped pedestrians and then scurried aloft to safety.

Driscoll caught the gray marauder in a home made box trap and took it to the Animal Rescue League headquarters where it is now under observation in a padded cage.

'Just a plain case of a squirrel gone 'nuts,'" remarked Rescue League attendants after hearing Driscoll's story.

Boston After Dark

By JACK CONWAY

(Mr. Boston pinch hits today for George Holland, who is vacationing. Holland, however, will write Boston After Dark for the Green Magazine of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.)

Former State Senator Joseph P. White, now a member of the Boston School Committee will, on July 4, announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor . . . White is the only Democrat who ever held the State Senate seat from the Sixth Suffolk district . . . He won this post when Gaspar Bacon became Lieutenant-Governor.

White was quarterback on the Boston College football team that beat Yale in 1919 . . . He got the victory habit at that time and has never lost it . . . White has served in the House of Representatives, in the Senate and on the Boston School Committee . . . He has never been defeated in any contest for public office, while he received more votes for the School Committee than were ever accorded to a person seeking that position for the first time.

Jack Conway

Horace P. Cahill, who is seeking the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, attended English High, while White was going to Boston College High . . . Both later served in the legislature together.

Mayor Maurice Tobin was tendered a party by Paul Bowser at the latter's home at Fair Oaks Farm, Lexington, the night of the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap . . . Bowser, like everybody else who has met the youthful Mayor, has been captivated by Tobin's fine personality and expert knowledge of public affairs . . .

Looking around the gay festive board as Mayor Tobin cut the cake, I saw Attorney General Paul Dever, Mayor John W. Lyons, of Cambridge, Mayor John M. Lynch, of Somerville, Assistant Attorney General Arthur Sullivan, James Tobin, Timothy Tobin, Eugene C. Hudson, former chairman of the Licensing Commission in Somerville, Clerk of Court Charley Cavanaugh, State Senate candidate Joe Cleary, Street Commissioner James Mahoney, of Cambridge and Police Chief Timothy F. Leahy, of Cambridge.

Bowser has sent his stable of trotters and pacers to the Grand Circuit races . . . Paul has been successful in developing great trotters . . . He bought Tara for $475 and sold her for $15,000 to an Italian syndicate . . . He later purchased DeSota for $4000 and sold him to the same Italian syndicate for $15,000 . . . DeSota recently beat Tara in a race held in Paris.

"Two Gun" Baker's New Job

REMEMBER "Two Gun" Baker? . . . For years he was the traffic king along the roads of Quincy and was a terror to those motorists who liked to do a Barney Oldfield . . . "Two Gun", after a rather stormy career, is working in the Edison plant in Weymouth.

Charley Gilman, who died suddenly at his home in Milton from a heart attack, was the most sought after toastmaster in New England . . . He held that place of honor at the dinner of the State Racing Commissioners at the Copley Plaza last Saturday night . . . He laid Governor Hurley's absence from the dinner to the fact the Governor was playing a "Farley" . . . Clover Club members will miss Charley for his wit, friendship and kindness.

Jim Delaney, one of Boston's better reporters, is going to give the real lowdown on the mysterious move behind the strange Carroll-Dwyer case in Maine in the Boston Sunday Advertiser next Sunday . . . Farley-for-Governor posters mysteriously and suddenly appeared on several New York City autos yesterday, but Postmaster Jim's friends disclaim them . . . They also pooh-pooh the report that Jim wants Baseball Commissioner Landis' job . . . The Theater Guild is trying to get Warner Bros. to permit Newton's Bette Davis to do a stage play . . . Jimmy Roosevelt should have taken out some insurance against magazine articles . . .

Rearrangement of Radioland Highlights

By N. F. T.

VERILY, YOU RADIO regulars won't know our Friday night this evening, so many switches and layoffs have broken into the broadcasting schedules.

NO MORE "Hollywood Hotel" dramas and variety to hear until autumn, which pulled a full sixty minutes out of the "mike" doings and an hour is a lot to extract from any day or night.

THERE REMAINS the semi-classic setting where the singing of Lucille Manners is a high light and the designing is particularly timely there (WNAC) over the 8 to 9 o'clock stretch this evening. Stirring melodies, such as "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic," have been fashioned into a medley for salute purposes with the advent of Independence Day.

RURAL HUMOR DISPENSED daily and dially by "Lum and Abner" is coming to a conclusion (WEEI) when they have had their fling between 7:15 and 7:30 tonight, then no more cracker barrel satire from them until September 5.

STEEL WORKERS from skyscraper buildings and steel workers from subway depths in New York are "pitted," if that's the word, against each other (WBZ) for the weekly "Spelling Bee" at 8:30 tonight, the program having placement one hour earlier by reason of recent shifting.

MORE SUCH HUMAN interest features predicted by the program planners for the fall, and "Seth Parker" might even be back, plus a possible revival of the old "Thompkins Corners" variety, remember that one? It's figured to be a cycle as they say in screenland, perhaps a swerve away from so much hotcha and crime glorification in the air castles.

HEART STRINGS may get a tug when the story of "Grandma Rolfe" takes to the four winds (WNAC) for "Death Valley Days" drama at 9:30 this evening. A version of a true Western character, the poverty-stricken widow and mother of 11 children overcoming the hardships and hunger of near destitution.

Bench Mourns Death of Judge James C. Doran

NEW BEDFORD, July 1 [illegible] of the Massachusetts [illegible] yesterday mourned the passing of Judge James C. Doran, who died while hearing a case in his district court here.

Judge Doran was appointed by former Governor Ely in 1914.

Born in Cambridge in 1870, he was graduated from Holy Cross and Harvard Law school. Prior to his appointment by Governor Ely he had served for 21 years as a sperry justice.

The jurist was admitted to practice in the U. S. Supreme Court in 1897. He once was a member of the public works commission of Massachusetts and a past president of the New Bedford Bar Association.

Roach Studio Will Make Serious Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, July 1—The Roach Studio, famous for years as the most out and out makers of slapstick slips out of the custard pie throwing tactics to make a 100 per cent serious drama in "Robbery Under Arms."

True "Merrily We Live" and Topper were a step forward but they too were hilarious nonsense. "Robbery Under Arms," however, is more or less a comedy. It is based on an old English novel by Rolf Boldrewood with Anna Sten as the lead and deals with the part played in Australia when England sent convicts to [illegible]. Louella O. Parsons late this afternoon.

Margaret Sullavan and Brian Aherne both have contract to Roach will be co-starred in the highly dramatic opus. Geza Herczeg whose adaptation of "Emile Zola" won the Academy prize has been engaged by Milton Bern to prepare the screen play and John Blystone has been named as director. It follows "Topper Takes a Trip," the Roland Young sequel.

Wonder if Hal won't sneak in a laugh or two. He has been so identified with comedy it may be difficult for him to shed it and be serious.

Law-Making In a Nutshell

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 1 (INS)—As an outstanding piece of concise reporting, newspapermen at the humdrum final session of the state Legislature today felt the prize should go to an unnamed girl of 10.

She spent the afternoon in the gallery above the press box, scribbling on a pad of paper. It was brushed over the railing when she left. It read:

1—Everybody votes on something.
2—Two men talk. They sit down.
3—I got a drink.
4—Somebody else talks some more.
5—They vote again.
6—They stop. It is a recess.
7—The speaker says something. But somebody else talks louder. He sits down.

The newsmen decided she had hit the mark without wasting any words on the antics of the more playful legislators busy setting off firecrackers under their confreres.

100-Proof Wrong

The Editor Says:

We Americans are a [illegible] people.

We are always [illegible] for SOMEONE ELSE.

In the Monroe Doctrine we [illegible] for South Americans.

We made Cuba safe for the Cubans.

We tried to make the world safe for democracy.

We only succeeded after a vast expenditure of [illegible] and money in making the world safe for autocracy or autocracy.

We pledged ourselves to [illegible] for the Cubans.

Why not, for a change, make AMERICA SAFE FOR AMERICANS?

Nazi spies walk in and out of our forts and aviation fields seemingly at will.

Communist agents on order from Moscow tell Americans just what kind of a government Stalin wants us to have.

Our schools and colleges are overrun with "teachers" and "lecturers" who are indoctrinating their pupils with 57 varieties of un-American isms.

All we do is "investigate."

If America is to be made safe for Americans, ACTION against foreign and native born subverters will have to be taken soon.

It is time we ceased making everything on earth safe for somebody else.

It is time we set about in earnest making an America for the coming generations that will be an amply protected and DEFENDED, ONE HUNDRED PER CENT U. S. A., such as our forefathers left to US.

THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL acted wisely when it unanimously confirmed the nomination of Associate Justice Fred Tarbell Field as chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court. He was then sworn in as successor to the late Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg.

Justice Field has all of the qualifications which may eventually make him as one of the foremost jurists in the history of the Commonwealth.

The nomination by Governor Hurley of James J. Ronan of Salem, senior associate on the staff of Attorney General Dever as associate justice of the Supreme Court won immediate approval of leading attorneys.

Through his long association with politics and civic work Attorney Ronan would become one of the leading members of the High Court.

MAYOR WILLIAM E. KANE of Woburn, who won a nation-wide fame through his drive to parade intoxicated citizens in a horse and wagon, certainly made good his campaign promises.

His first act in lowering the Woburn tax rate $7.30 to $39.60 was hailed by all property owners in the city.

Mayor Kane has worked long and hard in his endeavor to accomplish this feat. Radical changes in government together with some cuts in salaries brought about the relief for taxpayers.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

FLORENCE, S. C., July 1.

BATTLING gamely against the psycho pressure of President Roosevelt's urge for a purge that grim old statesman from the deep South, "Cotton Ed" Smith, is struggling today to keep his political head above the torrents which are deluging South Carolina.

The deluge is not of water but of federal dollars, which are rolling in on the Palmetto State like the famous Pee Dee, out of its Palmetto-lined banks.

Up and down the state "Cotton Ed" is going, the rolling sweat pouring down his weather-beaten face.

For two weeks the veteran senator who has served five terms in Washington and is now trying for a sixth has been fighting off the most deadly political attack ever launched against him. His attackers gamble that not an ounce of it can be put to waste.

Everybody in South Carolina understands perfectly well that President Roosevelt's urge for the political extermination of a man whose only sin was love of the Constitution and whose only crime was voting against the Roosevelt court scheme to pack the United States Supreme Court.

[illegible] as Pete Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's chief lieutenant in the [illegible] has been working [illegible] the state.

[illegible] has two of them. Under a recent State law passed [illegible] the Governor Talmadge [illegible] Senator in a primary all the candidates for governor, and for senator have to go around together speaking from the same platform at the same time in each of the 46 counties.

When Ellison D. Smith first ran for the senate back in 1908 he showed up at his first stump-speaking rally on top of a bale of cotton in a wagon drawn by a span of mules and thus he came by his nickname, "Cotton Ed," which has stuck from that day to this.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

GETTING along with the men in the office without either sloping over sentimentally, or growing prim and hard boiled, is the feat of a modern business girl's life. And you've got to hand it to her when she succeeds.

Her first and hardest task is to make the men LIKE her. I don't mean to make them love her or fall for her. It's easy enough to do that if you have youth and pep and a good figure and wear the right clothes. It is SO much easier for a man to love a woman than it is for him to like her; because he can love her casually or blindly, but he has to like her with his eyes wide open.

The day has passed when every girl looked upon the office door as the door to ROMANCE or adventure or matrimony.

What of Today, Tomorrow?

Scientists Strive To Link Man, Monkey

Man and monkey . . .

At Harvard University there's a man who returned recently from the Asiatic Primate Expedition—Harold J. Coolidge, Jr., assistant curator of mammals, Museum of Comparative Zoology.

He's brought back some interesting theories about the gibbon, a strange, temperamental chimpanzee-type from British North Borneo.

The gibbon TODAY is regarded by science as the father of the human race and TOMORROW anthropologists hope to link, completely, man with monkey.

By WILLIAM MICHELFELDER
Boston Evening American Staff Writer

Deep in the sultry jungles of the Indo-Malay countries, far from the last dim echo of the tom-tom, lives a slope-shouldered, hairy creature who fills the night with unearthly cries but spends most of the day being very smart.

The gibbon, who may be used to prove conclusively that You and I had monk ancestry, occupied the attention, exclusively, of Professor Harold J. Coolidge, Jr., while he was on the Asiatic Primate Expedition which penetrated far into the [illegible] country of [illegible] and Northern Borneo [illegible] eastern Asia.

Professor Coolidge said:

"The expedition of which I was a member [illegible] theory that has now [illegible] THE STATUS OF FACT.

As the result [illegible] and I [illegible] in order to EXPLAIN MAN'S [illegible] and [illegible] shall [illegible] the [illegible] man [illegible] is important to STUDY ONE OF THESE APE FAMILIES [illegible] PLANS [illegible]

[illegible] YET THE STANDARD APE HAS H. J. Coolidge Jr. BEEN THE LEAST CAREFULLY STUDIED.

"He was I realized the best [illegible] accessible data on the creature I determined to devote my time exclusively to him. And I uncovered some amazing things.

"FIRST, THE GIBBON IS AN IMPORTANT TYPE FOR STUDY IN CONNECTION WITH MAN'S SOCIAL EVOLUTION AND CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY."

The professor explained the meaning of the word "primate" which is given to the gibbon. Primate is the name given by zoologists to that order which includes lemurs, monkeys, apes and man himself. Now this 'primate tree,' so to speak, has nearly 600 living terminal twigs which have spread from 57 branches OF WHICH ONLY ONE IS LABELED MAN.

"You see," continued Professor Coolidge, "all these species are the result of nature's experimenting with one common ancestral stock. THE GIBBON HAS ALL THE FUNDAMENTALS SHOWING THE SIMILARITY BETWEEN MAN AND THE MONKEY."

To make sure of split-hair accuracy in method, the expedition had every specimen brought into camp carefully documented and this docket included detailed field measurements FOR COMPARATIVE growth studies to be correlated with SKELETAL measurements made at home.

"Then we were extremely careful," said the professor, "in making our study of the wild gibbon [illegible] THE [illegible] VEILED THE [illegible] ENTOMBED [illegible] FAMILY [illegible] AT LEAST [illegible] OF [illegible] AFRICAN [illegible]

[illegible] SELVAGE [illegible] HUBBY [illegible] Of a [illegible] we [illegible] [illegible] through the [illegible] [illegible]

"He used an interesting word. He [illegible] people [illegible] we observed CLEVER MANAGEMENT of family problems and [illegible] of [illegible] supply. When pressed [illegible] a bit difficult, physical [illegible] never [illegible] except in rare cases. If [illegible] [illegible] for the same food [illegible] a violent battle takes place.

"GIBBONS ARE MONOGAMOUS. THERE [illegible] EVALUATED THE ONE MAN AND WOMAN WITH ONE TO FOUR CHILDREN OF VARYING AGES FROM NEW-BORN TO FULL ADULTS.

"We discovered GREAT COOPERATION between mother and young. The babies are nursed for at least eight to ten months, while the older brothers and sisters form social groups and have ORGANIZED PLAY.

"Gibbons COMMUNICATE WITH ALMOST HUMAN GESTURES AND BY CALLS. The many types of calls and their possible meaning can be best understood by a careful study of the reactions within the family to the various calls, as well as the effect on other families within hearing distance."

Professor Coolidge, in a recent broadcast, said the past ten years have seen a great increase in the use and study of primates.

BUT THE GIBBON COMES PRETTY CLOSE TO BEING MAN'S ANTHROPOLOGICAL SIDE-KICK.

Girl About Town

FASHION NOTE: We didn't realize how very much shorter the dresses are being worn this season, until we began trying on some of last year's clothes. But by hat the designers have been elevating hemlines so gradually that no one has been jolted by the change. If we don't watch out we'll all be back to the pumper age. Long skirts!

SCOOP NOTE: It's been fun for great many days seeing Jerry Ingalls wander from room to room in the World office. Ever since Jerry left Hearst's employ to go with the Scripps-Howard chain of papers, he's been at the bottom of the heap. But last week he was promoted to head photographer.

Last Sunday, the 12 photographers met again in the usual baggy suits provided at Jerry's for Boston and Jerry for the Hearst chain.

They must have been thinking of another holiday a day when Jerry, in the name of the Hearst and Boston, fought on the same side of the barricades.

Don't you feel sorry for Jerry? He's been so, I've had the blues for months. He's down with a 2-inch cut. All the more he'll have Thursday's crowd.

You are so much too near to me;

Or hear your voice, or feel the warmth
Of your dear hand in mine.

Some glory of you stirred in a dream
Sometimes I think the only thing
That can the lasting rapture bring
Is not to see you, but to sing
In love with you and far away.

IS THERE ANYTHING more exciting to a driver than to be stuck in a traffic jam, and to have another line right next to you start moving gaily along? There's just nothing you can do about it. You have to sit and watch the cars pass you, one by one, and wonder if there isn't some way you could wriggle out of your line and slip in that one if you see what I mean.

That was the situation in the entrance of the Narragansett Tunnel the other day. Cars on either side were moving, but we were stuck.

But the police officer on duty explained that we were caught in the procession when another light changed, but after that we'd get an hour.

He came by, smoking his pipe and seeing that the motors and exhausts were turned off.

IF YOU THINK that romance is dead, you should see the way the waiters at Locke-Ober and Lyger at the Ritz Roof.

They are conspicuously gay and attentive. And they seem another dance to the tinkling of knives and forks and light conversation. They seem a gala spirit in their deliberate manner, almost in the envy of all diners in their midst.

IN A BOSTON BOOK SHOP: A woman approached the clerk and asked for "Ten Thousand Dreams." The clerk puzzled a minute, and finally came back with another book.

It was "Ten Thousand Dreams."

Dictator Trends

by Hugh S. Johnson

BETHANY BEACH, Del., The Evening Star's editorial page for June 25 [illegible] is so much better than anything I've seen in print in Washington today that I want to commend it to all readers.

The editorial begins by saying that the United States of Europe [illegible] Nebraska, the Colorado Legislature, the Democratic Party, the Republican Party, the Supreme Court, the Senate, the House, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence, the Monroe Doctrine, the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule, the Sermon on the Mount, the Holy Bible, and the Star-Spangled Banner.

General Johnson

It then says that the people of the United States, who will not accept [illegible] to which they are entitled, will not accept [illegible] of bayonets, [illegible] Supreme Court, [illegible] White House packed for any reason, [illegible] and officers sworn to support the Constitution, [illegible] the Democratic system of government. It says that President has [illegible] more powerful than the rest of government combined. The Administration was down a collar to its last demands that Congress shall follow it. The legislators who show their independence are punished and those who obey are rewarded.

The punishments are cumulative and varied. First his patronage is taken away and his constituents are led to believe he is without weight or prestige in Washington. Then his wife and daughter have social humiliations he is made to feel the Administration's displeasure in still subtler ways.

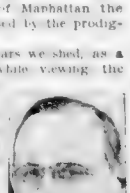
The Brighter Side

by Damon Runyon

WE BEG LEAVE to report that the moisture noticeable about the Island of Manhattan the past week was not entirely caused by the prodigious rains.

Some of it was due to the tears we shed, as a cash customer of the movies while viewing the mother-love sacrifices of various ladies of the cinema.



Damon Runyon

The mother-love sacrifice business comes and goes among the picture makers. Sometimes we do not see much of it for an entire semester. Then of a sudden it pops out on us all over the layout. We must visit Hollywood some day and inquire into the causes of these periodical visitations.

You know about the mother love sacrifice thing, of course. If you are a seasoned cash customer of the cinema it is a cinch you know about it. You know that it starts with an unmarried lady having a baby and goes from there on to a finish corresponding with the mood of the picture maker the day he decides to wind it up.

IF THAT DAY happens to be one of those balmy beneficent days said to be characteristic of Southern California and the picture maker has compiled a low score at golf the day before and is on exceptionally friendly terms with his wife, and has not been bothered by the income tax fellow lately, the finish is apt to be reasonably happy.

On the other hand if the day falls during the Santa Anita racing season and the picture maker has just had word that the good thing he had in the fourth race ran out of the money, the finish may practically break your heart. We can understand that, too. On such a day, if we were making the picture, we would not only turn the victim of the mother-love sacrifice out into the elements at the finish but we would probably have her harried up the lane by Siberian wolves.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHOULD WE HAVE AN AMELIAN SWEEP TAKES? This says Beverly A. Wood and Cliff Ward.

Scratch! Away they go every year—one more added to the Pinwell mark with Amerwun dollars.

POUND FOR THE IRISH SWEEP TAKES!

An actual load of gold, dragged from America's pocket, mounting every year in volume, returning only a pittance of its treasure to the land from which it was won.

Elsie Robinson

So what about it? Should we [illegible] our treasure to the little green isle? Or should we [illegible] to LET AMERICA? Are we [illegible] Sweepstakes of our own?

There's a question which is agitating every golf club in the U. S. A. why [illegible] "Corn mosquitoes. Moral?" I answer. Today [illegible] to decide. But here are [illegible] Americans are vote heavily for the [illegible] CLIFF WHITE 27 of OAKLAND CAL.

"For years the United States has enjoyed a [illegible] Both foreign and [illegible] Yet millions of dollars are [illegible] annually for [illegible] a lottery tickets.

"Why not spend AMERICAN DOLLARS in AMERICA by legalizing a national lottery under government control?

"The hospitals of Ireland are supported on the winnings collected [illegible] from the sale of sweepstakes tickets. If [illegible] so, why not OUR GOVERNMENT run CONTINENTAL SWEEPSTAKES [illegible] on the Kentucky Derby [illegible] the greatest [illegible] event in this country?

The purpose of the lottery would be for the maintenance of INFANTILE PARALYSIS INSTITUTIONS. The motive is a WORTHY CAUSE. Furthermore, instead of [illegible] by illegal means and with a sense of guilt, the money would be procured, instead of a gamble it would be a GUARANTEE of HEALTH and HAPPINESS for those poor unfortunates.

CLIFF makes a good point, doesn't he? So does BEVERLY WOOD of LOS ANGELES who sponsors lotteries in general. She says:

"Everywhere I find people talking about Continental Lotteries and although the basic idea is gambling, I am sure IT WOULD BE IMMORAL. If it were a monthly affair at $1 a ticket, I for one would be more than willing to risk $12 a year on the chance of winning some day.

Everyone spends money for candy, gum, cigarettes and they would gladly spend a little more money, instead of for the sake of a HOPEFUL WAGER.

"The world is just a sad place, anyway. Such a lottery WOULD HELP THE GOVERNMENT WITH ITS UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM, for there would be a great many [illegible] needed, jobs [illegible] And why not use some of the money [illegible] relief?

So you want to be afraid of a [illegible] with the government sponsoring it and the government running it. MAKE A GOOD DEAL OF PROFIT. Some [illegible] money would enable them [illegible] TAXES in a few short years. I may put it that. Let us WHY [illegible] money against it. Let us [illegible]

WHY IS GAMBLING CONSIDERED IMMORAL? Because anything [illegible] which takes the UP AND AT 'EM OUT OF LIFE [illegible] The fact that we [illegible] in [illegible] or [illegible] for [illegible] PUT THE FACT THAT WE BOTH ARE SITTING BACK AND LEAVING EVERYTHING UP TO LADY LUCK IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT.

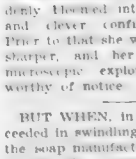
Gambling is half the same [illegible] drink or [illegible] is bad. THEY ARE ESCAPES FROM ACTION AND REALITY.

The greatest prize in life is not the Irish Sweepstakes. BUT YOUR OWN GROWTH. And you don't grow when you invest in a lottery ticket, but just set around. What a way to be a worthy use of life if you're a barnacle or a clam. But for a human being it's certainly a sucker's choice of a program.

One Word Led to Another

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

WHILE Inspector Byrnes is gallant and chivalrous to the ladies he is quite thankful that Ellen Peck is now spending several compulsory week-ends on Blackwell's Island.



EIGHT years ago Ellen suddenly bloomed into a dangerous and clever confidence woman. Prior to that she was an ordinary sharper, and her intricate but microscopic exploits were unworthy of notice.

BUT WHEN, in 1878, she succeeded in swindling B. T. Babbitt, the soap manufacturer, out of $19,000, she aroused the admiration of her fellow sharpers and came to be looked upon as an operator of considerable slippery talent.

NEXT she swindled Samuel Pingree, the patent medicine tycoon, out of $2700. She informed Samuel of a friend in the office of Jay Gould who tipped her off on financial affairs. When the shouting was over Pingree discovered that Jay Gould was selling the same stock that Pingree had been buying.

THEN one day a shrewd shyster handed Ellen cash in lieu of a [illegible] to a safety deposit vault where Ellen immediately deposited [illegible] in bonded securities. But Ellen [illegible] had [illegible] bought a [illegible] years [illegible] The empty vault [illegible] been minus thousands of dollars.

Prepare for Gala Fourth

FROM MARTHA LEEN FRIDAY BROADCAST OVER STATION WNAC—11:30 A. M.

The Fourth of July will seem to have the ceremonial barbecue could not have picked a better day to observe their names after the Declaration of Independence could they? What a day! Life and liberty, and another beautiful day with the Declaration of Independence deserved the opportunity to prove what happy, free people and the safe celebration could be.

Let's celebrate and [illegible] step with the natives of some [illegible] wanderers and get back to nature with a basketful of [illegible] and a pail of picnic. Perhaps you [illegible] to rest and dress on the [illegible] day and year. I want to do. We might just as well begin [illegible] yesterday to the plans of the [illegible] and prepare for a meal [illegible] to the utmost in ways. There is [illegible] about to prepare and a variety of sandwich creations are [illegible] dozen to be described later.

POTATO WITH BACON SALAD

Do [illegible] and chill 8 sizable [illegible] Cook and peel them. Fry [illegible] thin [illegible] brown until [illegible] crisp and free of fat. Drain well and chop. Slice 6 hard boiled eggs. Chop up 6 [illegible] scallions or 1 large onion. Mince several sprigs of parsley. Toss all together and dress carefully with salad dressing.

SKYROCKETERS

Using a sharp knife, slit each frankfurter lengthwise [illegible] deep enough to accommodate a generous of mustard, spread and pour [illegible] sweet pickle. Wrap them with [illegible] to give a zigzag effect and secure with toothpicks. When [illegible] are inserted [illegible] Heinz "Tastee-Nuts."

Now [illegible] we did it. Think of [illegible] with [illegible] wheat [illegible] buns and [illegible] and [illegible] the following method of preparing them:

BAKED BEANS WITH SHERRY WINE

Prepare baked beans in your favorite manner and during the last hour of baking add 1 cup dry sherry wine for each pound of beans used. Unless you are particularly fond of sweet pork in the with baked beans, we suggest you bake them prepared with a whole piece of raw smoked ham added to the beans in the beginning of the baking period. [illegible] especially good when wine is used.

Should you desire to serve the baked beans hot, remove [illegible] from the oven wrap the [illegible] in a cotton or [illegible] paper [illegible] you will be able to serve them [illegible]

Brilliant Costumes At Eustis Nuptials

By BETTY ALDEN

GYPSY colors of sun yellow and tango red fashion the brilliant costumes of Eleanor Eustis' bridal party at her wedding this afternoon to Theodore Stephen Jones, son of Mr and Mrs. Charles Lyons Jones, of Wellesley Hills . . .

The bride, daughter of Frederick Augustus Eustis, of Milton, and the late Edith Tileston Eustis, has chosen Milton's First Parish Church as the setting for her nuptials, followed by a reception given by her father and stepmother at their Canton avenue home . . . Eleanor is the fourth of the Eustis daughters to wear her mother's beautiful wedding gown of cream color embroidered cotton net satin with a veil of rose point lace belonging to their grandmother, Mrs. Augustus Hemenway of Milton . . . Her bouquet is of lilies of the valley and lavender . . . Pvt. Vivian T. Pomeroy, 2nd, of the marines is attending . . .

Margaret Eustis (Mrs. Thomas Curtis of Appleford, R. I., who was married last September, is serving her sister as matron of honor . . . her gown a peasant style frock of tango red marquisette made with a laced bodice, full skirt and puff sleeves . . . Two other sisters, Mrs. Edward Sturgis, of Brookline, and Mrs. Winthrop H. Churchill, of Cambridge, are in the bevy of attractive bridesmaids . . . all of whom are wearing sun yellow frocks with tango red facings on the bodice and leghorn picture hats . . . Others walking up the aisle ahead of the bride are Mrs. Henry B. Tuttle, of Dedham, Susannah Ayer, of Milton; Mrs. David Howland of New York, and Mrs. F. Stacy Holmes, of Wayland, the former Olivia Stone, a bride of two months . . .

Philip Kirkham Allen of Andover, is serving Mr Jones as best man while the usher group includes the Messrs. Albert Hampton Barclay, Jr., Winthrop H. Churchill, Charles Lyon Jones, Jr., Edward Sturgis, Jr., all of Boston, and a number of out-of-town friends of the bridegroom, including David Howland of New York, Horace Seely-Brown, of Pomfret, Ct.; Townsend King Wellington, of North Bennington Ct.; John Wilbur, of Cleveland, and Thomas Gray Curtis, brother-in-law of the bride . . .

Receiving with the bridal couple at the reception, Mrs. Eustis will wear a gown of taupe and dusty pink marquisette, with a small hat of matching velvet and an orchid corsage . . . Mrs. Jones has chosen a dark blue marquisette gown and her wide brimmed white straw has a matching navy crown . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Eustis gave a dinner last evening following the wedding rehearsal and before the ceremony, this afternoon, the Winthrop Churchills entertained the bridal party at luncheon . . .

Notes From a Society Editor's Cuff

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Young, of Brookline, and their daughters, Martha and Jane, have chosen the Eastern Yacht Club, Marblehead, as the center of their summer festivities . . . They are already settled there for the season . . . Martha, a debutante of last autumn, has just completed her second year at Connecticut College . . .

Dottie O'Day and Whitey Whitehead accompanied Dottie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Day and her sister, Mary to Suffolk Downs the other afternoon, where they made an attractive family party on the Paddock Club terrace . . . Dottie's scarlet hat topped a nile lined gray coat and was clouded with a fetching black chenille veil . . . The O'Days are ensconced for the season at Rockledge, Swampscott . . .

Marjorie Mosley and Herbert Jaques, Jr., who will be married tomorrow afternoon, are planning to spend part of their honeymoon in the Laurentian mountains . . . where they have made reservations at the Seigniory Club, Quebec, for the holiday . . .

The John Saltonstalls and their brood will be missed from the North Shore's inner circle this summer . . . for, contrary to their usual custom of spending the season in Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Saltonstall have taken a cottage at Northeast Harbor, Me.

Martha Young Is Back From College

HOME FOR SUMMER—Miss Martha Young, post deb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Young, of Brookline, has just returned from college to spend the summer with her parents at the Eastern Yacht Club, Marblehead. Miss Young made her debut last September at The Country Club and has since been pursuing a collegiate career at Connecticut College for Women.

Ellen McManus Weds Tomorrow

Tomorrow's marital limelight centers on Mary Ellen McManus, of Medford whose wedding to Walter Rogers of Stoneham, is taking place at nine o'clock at the Immaculate Conception church, Malden.

Miss Mary M. Manus will give her daughter in marriage and a number of luncheons is planned in honor of the bride-elect. Among them are Mary Feeney, of Medford; Catherine De Courcey, of Cambridge; Kathleen McManus, of Brookline, and Clara McKenna, of Medford.

The bridegroom's brother, James E. Rogers Jr. will serve as best man following the wedding, a reception will follow at the Bellevue Country Club, Melrose.

Mary, a member of the Medford schools teaching staff, was graduated from Lowell Teacher's College. Mr. Rogers received his degree from Boston College where he was prominent in many sports activities.

Child Tennis Star At Copley-Plaza

E. Brian Hawley, 13-year-old tennis star, who has won honors at Forest Hills and other famous courts is at the Copley Plaza while in Boston for the Massachusetts Junior Championship tournament at the Longwood Cricket Club.

DOROTHY BOND SAILING

Miss Dorothy W. Bond, of Dedham, daughter of Deputy Inspector Bond, of Boston, is sailing tomorrow aboard the Lady Hawkins for a four week's vacation cruise to the West Indies.

Ruth Carney Married at Assumption

White lilies and evergreens were the choice of decorations for the 10 o'clock wedding yesterday at the Church of Our Lady of Assumption, when Ruth Carney, daughter of Mr and Mrs Joseph Carney, became the bride of Richard Meiler Barnes of Colon and Chicago.

The pretty bride chose white satin, collared in heirloom lace also trimming her bridal veil. She carried a bouquet of orchids and bouvardia.

Green and white was also the color scheme of her attendants. Her honor maid and matron were gowned alike in white marquisette fashioned on empire lines. Her sister, Mrs. Frances Devlin whose wedding was solemnized also at a year ago in the same setting was matron of honor. Catherine served as her sister's maid of honor.

Pale green marquisette [illegible] by large white [illegible] was the bridesmaids' costume of the ensemble. In the [illegible] group attending the bride were Miss Winifred Agnes of Arlington, Miss Mary Ferris Hellen of New York, Mrs. Courtney Burns of [illegible], Miss O. and Miss Winifred Dresbach of [illegible], Miss Janet Wheeler of Lexington and Miss Susan Baker of Arlington.

Best man for the groom, the bride's brother Daniel Robson, headed the usher group, including Henry Stone, John Dwinnell, Harold Kelley, Arthur Mutton, Jr., Dr. Sylvester Kenny, Jackson Southwick, Francis Dewey, Charles Andrews, John Nason, Spencer Fabyan and William Eckel.

A gala reception for 200 at the Oyster Harbor home of the bride's parents, after which the bride couple left on a European trip.

Deb Pair Presented At Party

Many of the season's debutantes wound up their June festivities at the lovely tea party which Mrs. Whipple Fry gave yesterday afternoon to present her niece, Marietta Withington and Hetty Miller, daughter of Mrs. John Miller of Plymouth Ye Olde Cape Codder, in Centerville was the attractive setting for the party and Mrs. Fry received with her young guests on the sunny terrace overlooking the bay.

Both Mrs. Fry and her sister, Mrs. Lothrop Withington mother of Marietta, wore garden party gowns of flowered chiffon, while the debutantes in more simple afternoon frocks. Miss Miller's costume was of ruana egg blue, with a bright blue straw hat and Miss Withington wore a dotted swiss frock of red [illegible] and cream over stripes with a cream straw hat.

Handsome Gloomy as Team Takes to Road

What Has Happened:

On the spotlit way to fame as one of baseball's most publicized heroes, "Handsome" Larry Regan, spectacular young southpaw (left hand pitcher), wants to marry the mahogany-haired "Mike" Shannon, magazine counter girl at the Eureka Hotel.

She is the main support of her family. Furthermore she is reluctant to become engaged to such a wild oats sower who is already the despair of his team's management.

But, sympathetic herself and urged by "Wish" Malone, the club's No. 1 scout, she is trying to reform Handsome who soon insists on giving her a diamond ring . . . She is watching him pitch for the first time. Although a bit unsteady, he wins his game by clever work in the pinches. After the game "Mike" decides to accompany Handsome to dinner.

Now Continue:

If This Be Treason . . . . Review of Bloody Wed.

HOW'S THIS FOR COINCIDENCE . . .or something:

SUFFOLK DOWNS, June 29—Twenty minutes before the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap race between the super horses, War Admiral and Seabiscuit, the latter was scratched. A strained tendon was discovered when its bandages were removed.

INGLEWOOD, Cal., June 29—Twenty minutes before the $50,000 American Stakes between the super horses, Lawrin and Pauher, the latter was scratched. A strained tendon was discovered when its bandages were removed.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON AT SUFFOLK when the state and track veterinaries returned from examining Seabiscuit's tendon, I sat at the conference by permission of Chief Steward Tom Thorp. Dr. Charles Boutelle came in with a spray of perspiration and reported, "The tendon isn't bowed, but it's thickened up."

AUSTEN LAKE

The puckered pusses on the assembled track officials resembled the tied tops of potato sacks.

"Do you consider it dangerous for Seabiscuit to run?" queried Thorpe.

"Well," said the vet, hesitantly, "he might bow it in the muddy going."

The gathering conferred gloomily. "I guess we'll have to scratch him," said Thorp, like the foreman of a hanging jury. The lesser state and track officials concurred, heifs of woe hanging from their chins. The big spectacle was spoiled.

Their's Not to Reason Why

As AN IMPARTIAL WITNESS, I AM forced to agree that [illegible] for these reasons: (1) If the stewards had [illegible] Seabiscuit to run, its trainer would not have tried a [illegible] (2) If the [illegible] Tom Smith's declaration of [illegible] Owner C. S. Howard would have had [illegible]

That lets the officials out. Still, there are some puzzling angles. The officials, one and all, voted it a "hell of an unsportsmanlike thing" implying doubt as to the seriousness of 'Biscuit's hurt. Also, why did its trainer wait until 20 minutes before post time before unwrapping his daring's limbs and discovering the swollen thew? Why, knowing 'Biscuit's susceptible legs, didn't the vets insist on examinator during the forenoon? And would that tendon have been thick if the track had been dry and fast instead of gummy and hence to Smith's distaste? Q.e.d.

LET BOSTON'S BETTING TAKE THIS AS graphic proof that horse owners and trainers deem they owe nothing to the sport, the people, or anyone save themselves. In racing there is no professional pride. The show must go on. What was left of the Suffolk show did go on and with what result? Sure-fire funds of $78,000 were dumped down the drain. The wonder horse, War Admiral, which couldn't be headed by pet rivals, ran out of the payoff. The little dog laughed to see such sport and the cow jumped over the moon. So thousands who had raised important money to pick up some pin cash went home to bust the baby's pig bank and search the wife's tea pot for ama- change. What price form charts and pre-race analysis? [illegible] and the removal of Count Rapport's pin before [illegible]

Who Beats the Races?

ACIDOSIS AND HEART MURMURS IS THE LOT of the horse player. When the citizens withdraw their bank savings and traipse out to the track for some plain or fancy betting the best they can expect is the worst of it. Who knows when a trainer decides to try, whether the animal is in a running mood, or whether the cricket man on its back has private notions? Except for a minescule minority, the only men who beat the races are the ones who sit behind mutuel wickets in green eye shades and pasteboard cuff protectors and skim the state's and track's 10 per cent, plus breakage. It doesn't take many such 11½ per cent chews to gobble the working capital and force the commonality to go home to hunt more funds [illegible]

What is bound to happen to New England racing? Is the final sanction in repeal at the polls when the question comes up for local referendum next autumn? No! Not while New Hampshire and Rhode Island continue to operate like the pinchers of a nutcracker on either side of our pecan. The answer is in a final revulsion of the betting public at being used for a financial football and by allowing, in absentia, the plants to go back to the weeds whence they sprang. What is my gripe against the Sport of Kings? None, except that it doesn't fit into a workaday community like ours where there is already ample means of rational amusement and the mass distribution of spending money is a genuine problem. If that be treason . . .

Guldahl, Shute In Golf Classic | Rockingham to Speed Up Races

By JACK CONWAY

IT HAS BEEN several years since a golf match has attracted as much attention as the 36-hole match play test between Ralph Guldahl and Denny Shute which opened at Brae-Burn today. The final stages of the tussle will be decided at the South Shore Club in Hingham.

Mr. Boston

Guldahl has scored two successive triumphs in the national open, while Shute is the P. G. A. champion. The winner of the 36-hole match can well set himself up as the American champion.

I first met Shute a few years ago at a dinner held in honor of the final sports edition of this newspaper. He was accompanied by Bill Grimes who told me Shute was one of the greatest golfers in the world.

A few months later Shute won the British open golf championship. He returned to the United States to [illegible] amazing run of victories.

Guldahl comes from Texas and proved he has a habit of finishing [illegible] when he won the National Open title in Philadelphia.

Special golf matches have been drawing 25 per cent larger crowds this year than was true in 1937. This has created a much healthier condition for the various golf clubs that put on these type of attractions.

Rockingham to Avoid Post Delays

ROCKINGHAM Park will avoid post delays, according to an [illegible] Frank Brown [illegible] the South N. H. [illegible] Labor Day. An effort will be made to [illegible] opening day on July 11 to run off the [illegible] Labor Day.

The Rockingham [illegible] have been [illegible] make a fair start. [illegible] post parades [illegible] early when [illegible] the post at the first turn. The [illegible] Francisco [illegible] Fairgrounds [illegible] the favorite [illegible] to get the favorite [illegible] a fair post parade.

Last Friday [illegible] Rockingham [illegible] post parade was [illegible] seconds.

The six furlong chute at Rockingham has been widened which will enable Starter Bob Frend to get the sprinters off more quickly than he has been able in the past. Bad post actors will be promptly sent to the outside so as not to delay the start.

Favorites have usually done well at Rockingham, and the elimination of post delays should be one more break for form players.

Agawam to Aid Basket Fund

EDDIE BRENNAN, general manager of Agawam, called on the telephone to state that the upState track will conduct a race for the Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston Evening American Sunday Advertiser before the meeting closes on July 9. Agawam has staged a similar race for the past two seasons.

The share of the mutuel handle that would ordinarily go to the track is turned over to the Christmas Basket Fund and in this way furnishes dinners for the poor and unfortunate at Christmas.

People associated with sports have been among the leaders in caring for the poor.

Random Shots at Target

IF THE Red Sox [illegible] all their games at Fenway Park, they would [illegible] American League pennant . . . Jimmy Foxx [illegible] Boston . . . Foxx drove [illegible] powerful [illegible] Sox [illegible] . . . The Sox play the Athletics [illegible] today and tomorrow [illegible] trip to New York [illegible] with the Yankees [illegible] possible. The Red Sox will return home on July 4 for a double header with the Athletics.

There will not be any league ball games on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week on account of the All-Star game that takes place in Cincinnati on Wednesday . . . With Grove, Foxx, Cronin and Cramer representing the Sox, and Turner and Cuccinello on the job for the Bees.

Word from Cincinnati is to the effect the All-Star game is sold out . . . Bob Quinn of the Bees was allotted 15 tickets which were not sufficient for the heavy demands that were made upon him by his friends.

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)

Van Mungo To Rest Arm Next Year

NEW YORK, July 1 (INS)—Van Lingle Mungo, who pitched a one-hit game against the Boston Bees, was a sour and sullen victim of weary of the big towns and hounded by a nostalgia for his home in the Carolina hills.

"This may be my last year in baseball. My arm hurt yesterday. It ached from the first inning 'til the last. Every time I threw a curve ball I thought it would drop off.

"I'll take my regular turn. I can't say no. I got to pitch. I'll try to pitch out this season. I'll do the best I can, but if I don't get any better by the end of the season, I ain't coming back. I'm going to quit baseball."

Asked if he were going to abandon the big show for keeps Mungo said:

"Right now I don't know. But I can't pitch with this pain. But one thing I'm sure of. I'm going to take next season off if my arm isn't any better by the end of this one. A whole year would rest it and make it good. If it doesn't get any better after a year's rest I will quit for good."

Boxing Results

PORTLAND, Me.—Rody Marshall, 156, New York Negro, took newspaper decision from Vince Trudeau, 156, Portland, six rounds. Lete Larmore, 154, Athens, Me., was newspaper decision loser. Stanley Ketchel Brown, 156, Maine, was referee.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Andy Lanahan, 156, Lawrence, Mass., defeated George Wade, 156, Boston, in 10 rounds.

NEW YORK—Jackie Kid Berg, 135, defeated Johnny Hutchinson, 134½, eight rounds.

Eli Crew Wins by Length

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng., July 1 (AP)—Yale's 156-pound eight-oared crew defeated the British Imperial College boat club by one length today at the third round of Thames challenge cup competition of the Rolay Henley regatta.

The Elis' time was 7 minutes, 16 seconds for the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths.

Imperial College started fast and led at the island before Yale could get organized. The Elis cut Imperial's lead to three feet at the first signal, but the Britons had a quarter length lead at the second. Yale, however, was rowing smoothly and pulled up on even terms at Fawley, the halfway mark.

Then Yale sent up the beat to 36 and led by a quarter-length at the third signal. Imperial tried three spurts, but Yale met each one with something to spare and pulled across the finish line a good length ahead.

U. S. WINS AGAIN

Kent (Ct.) School defeated St. John's College of Oxford by one length to reach the semi-finale of Thames Cup competition. The Connecticut schoolboys, who will meet Yale in the next round, were clocked in 7:29.

Joe Burke of Philadelphia beat T. H. Tyler of the Thames Rowing Club in the eighth heat of the Diamond Sculls. The time was nine minutes.

Tyler took the lead at the start. Rowing at a 33 clip to Burk's 32, the Englishman held an advantage of a third of a length at the quarter-mile mark.

Burk soon began to close in with his short, quick strokes. At the half-way mark, he went a few feet ahead, sculling perfectly. Tyler made his final sprint at the mile but Burk didn't trouble to put on increased pressure, pulling away to win by four lengths.

The victory sent Burk in the finals where he will meet L. D. Habbitts of the Reading, Eng., rowing club, who defeated W. Thorpe of the Tyne Rowing Club by a length in 9 minutes 16 seconds. Habbitts previously had eliminated R. W. Bates of Boston.

Yale Cox Crows

A SON OF OLD ELI, Richard Smith, coxswain of the Yale lightweights competing in the Henley Regatta on the Thames river in England, introduces something new in crew coaching when he rides his bicycle along the river while exhorting his oarsmen to greater effort. The Yale crew has waded through several heats and is favored to win the Royal Cup.

Foxx Named On Honor List

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Johnny Vander Meer, big Red Ruffing and walloping Jimmy Foxx were deadlocked as the "heroes of the month" today in the Associated Press' second round-up of baseball stars for the season.

Each was mentioned four times during the month of June in the Associated Press' daily list of "yesterday's stars," half a dozen others drew three daily mentions during the 30-day period.

Ruffing, the Yankees' ace right-hander, was the only big leaguer to set the pace for the second straight month, and so led both loops for the season, with a total of nine daily nominations to the star set. Three tied with him at five daily nominations to the star set. Three tied with him at five daily mentions during the first month, all fell off during the most recent span.

By WALTER KILEY

NATIONAL LEAGUE FIELD, July 1—Johnny Lanning and Claude Passeau were rival hurlers in the opening game of a doubleheader played by the Bees and Phillies here today.

Gil English was at third for the Bees in the absence of the injured Debs Garms, whose ankle was X-rayed this morning.

FIRST INNING

PHILS—E. Mueller was thrown out by Cuccinello. Martin grounded to Fletcher. Jordan popped to Warstler. NO RUNS.

BEES—Fletcher flied to Martin. Cooney got a base on balls. Cooney was safe on a try to steal second, when E. Mueller dropped Atwood's perfect throw. Scharein threw out English, Cooney holding second. West was also thrown out by Scharein. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

PHILS—Arnovich was called out on strikes. Klein singled. Whitney was safe at first and Klein at second when Warstler fumbled. Klein was out when trying to take third, R. Mueller to English. NO RUNS.

BEES—Cuccinello was thrown out by Scharein. DiMaggio flied to Klein. R. Mueller doubled. Warstler struck out. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

PHILS—Atwood flied to West. Passeau was thrown out by Lanning. E. Mueller flied to Cuccinello. NO RUNS.

BEES—Lanning was thrown out by Scharein. Fletcher struck out. Cooney flied to Scharein. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

PHILS—Martin singled. Jordan forced Martin, Lanning to Warstler. Both Arnovich and Jordan were safe when Warstler booted Arnovich's grounder. Klein flied to Cooney. English threw out Whitney. NO RUNS.

BEES—English was thrown out by Whitney. E. Mueller threw out West and Cuccinello. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING

PHILS—Scharein beat out an infield hit. Atwood forced Scharein, English to Cuccinello. Passeau forced Atwood, Warstler to Cuccinello. E. Mueller singled. Martin grounded out to Fletcher. NO RUNS.

BEES—DiMaggio fouled to Atwood. R. Mueller was thrown out by Scharein. E. Mueller threw out Warstler. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING

PHILS—Jordan was thrown out by Cuccinello. Arnovich lined to DiMaggio. Klein struck out. NO RUNS.

BEES — Lanning struck out. Fletcher singled. Cooney flied to Klein. English singled. West flied to Martin. NO RUNS.

SEVENTH INNING

PHILS—Whitney flied to West. Scharein beat out an infield hit. Scharein stole second. English threw out Atwood. DiMaggio dropped Passeau's line drive and Scharein scored. E. Mueller fouled to Fletcher. ONE RUN.

Fined for Bonehead

ST. LOUIS, July 1 (AP)—A $50 "bonehead" fine was socked on Oral Hildebrand, Browns' pitcher, by Gabby Street for failing to cover first base on an infield grounder against the White Sox the other day. It would have been the third out. As it was the Sox scored three additional runs in the inning.

1940 Olympic Aquatic Material

Vega Arrives In Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 1 (INS)—The schooner Vega, reported missing in the Newport-to-Bermuda yacht race, was safe in port today, just another "also ran" among the entrants.

The Vega arrived at St. David's Head, Bermuda, five days behind Baruna, winner of the race. The Vega's corrected time was six days, 16 hours and 59 minutes.

Rousing

Welcome for Reds

CINCINNATI, July 1 (AP)—Jupiter Pluvius joined several thousand fans today as they roared a welcome to the Cincinnati Reds, home from their most successful road trip in years.

Rain marked—but failed to dampen—the civic greeting as the Reds stepped from their train onto a flag-bedecked platform for the ceremonies.

A crowd estimated by police at close to 5000 cheered each player as he was introduced, and broke into ear-splitting shrieks as "Doubie-No-Hit" Johnny Vander Meer was ushered to the microphone.

101 IN STATE AMATEUR

Since Van Lingle Mungo held his Bees to one hit over in Brooklyn, Casey Stengel has been "red," for the former speed ball king of the Dodgers is far from what he used to be . . . The Red Sox hope to benefit by their visit to Philadelphia but Connie Mack may cross them up . . . Fred Corcoran will leave for Shawnee-On-The-Delaware tomorrow night . . . He is all broken up over the sudden death of Charlie Gilman, who was his closest friend . . . The Denny Shute-Ralph Guldahl match, which starts today at Brae Burn and winds up tomorrow at South Shore, looks like a "natural" . . . Shute carded a 79 yesterday morning and Guldahl duplicated that feat in the afternoon, the first time he'd seen the course . . . Guldahl will be out to pin back Shute's ears, if possible, for he has never met the P. G. A. titleholder in match play . . . There are 101 entries in the state amateur championship which will be played next week at the Essex County Club . . . Among the contenders for Dave Whiteside's title will be twenty who have participated in Hearst New England junior championships . . . Joe Lynch, the first titlist, Leonard Curran, the current champion, Gerry Anderson, Dick Austin, T. O. Holcomb, Johnny Koslowski, Forrest Daniels, Jr., Joe Monahan, Jr., Mel Demarais, Joe Fay, Les Kennedy, Ernie Krig, Art McCarthy, Teddy Quinn, Dick Ruggles, Jackie Sheehy, Charlie Mulcahy, Johnny Waloshyn, Jim Ashburn and Herb Lundquist . . . With Eugene "Skip" Wogan and John Fitzgerald charge d'affaires, the contestants in the state amateur championship are in for a pleasant surprise . . . Gene Sarazen will never recover from the shock of Harry Cooper holing out from a trap at the final hole during the Goodal Trophy tournament last week in Cincinnati . . . That shot cost Sarazen the title, along with $250 . . . Debs Garms will be lost to the Bees for at least two weeks . . . He would have avoided his injury had he slid into the plate instead of trying to score standing up . . . "Babe" Phelps took the throw in, which was high and popped Debs on the noggin with such force that the Bees' speed merchant slid when he hadn't expected to, and the result was a sprained ankle . . . "Pat" Hanley's knee brace is working out to perfection for Gene Moore . . . Now that he has been reinstated by Judge Landis, Joe "Tweet" Walsh has come up with a lame arm . . . He expects to break into the Bees line up during the coming Western trip . . . The Bees will play exhibition games at Hartford and Erie next week . . . GRIMES.

Chicago Fans

Demand Preview

CHICAGO, July 1 (INS)—Word that Arlington Park would be the next stop in Seabiscuit's Eastern junket created a stir among racing fans here today.

They stirred but didn't wake up.

While the fraternity might listen to a curbstone tipster they wanted the payoff beforehand on any promise that the ailing prima donna of the track would at last get down to the barrier.

John Hertz, chairman of the track's Jockey Club committee had the same idea. To prevent any further fiascos such as occurred on Wednesday at Suffolk Downs, he announced that a trial Sunday will determine whether Seabiscuit will take part in the Stars and Stripes handicap on the Fourth.

Big League Stars

(By the Associated Press)

Van Mungo, Dodgers—Blanked Bees, 5-0, with one hit.

Johnny Allen, Indians—Called in relief against Tigers, he won his own game with ninth-inning single, driving in run for 10-9 victory.

Ark. Vaughan and Cy Blanton—Former hit triple and two singles, driving in two runs, and Blanton pitched three-hitter to top Reds, 3-1.

Jack Knott, White Sox—Pitched four-hitter for 11-1 win over Browns.

Hank Leiber, Giants—Hit homer, two doubles and single, driving in five runs in 14-1 win over Phillies.

Red Ruffing, Yankees—Pitched four-hitter, fanning five, to whip Athletics, 7-1.

Jimmy Ragby, Red Sox—Trounced Senators, 11-1, with six hits.

'Man Overboard!' She Waits in Vain

"Sorry, madam, the ship's two hours late."

The woman inquiring at an Atlantic avenue pier here early today turned away in disappointment.

"I'm so sorry," she said. "My brother, John H. Martis, from New York, is aboard. He's been working in New York. He hasn't been home since Christmas. Mother—Mother's past 70 . . . "

Worriedly, she explained:

"I can't wait to meet him, I've got to be at work. But I'm worries. He talked to Mother on the telephone cheerfully enough, but then he sent me a telegram. He's been worried over some property at Manhattan Beach that he owns. And his telegram says: 'My bag is checked with baggage. Valuables checked with purser.'

"Now, why should he send me a message like that?"

PHONES SAD NEWS

Company officials shook their heads.

"Well, I've got to go to work," she repeated. "I can't wait."

Two hours later the S. S. New York arrived. A sober-faced ship's officer telephoned the Martis home in Babcock street, Houghs Neck, Quincy.

"You'll have to prepare yourself for a shock, I'm afraid," he said . . .

It was in Long Island Sound, 10 miles off Stratford Shoals, that it happened.

GAIETY—TRAGEDY

The ship's orchestra was playing, couples dancing. Family groups and couples and shipboard acquaintances, coming back to New England for the Fourth of July holiday, strolled the decks, jammed the lounge, the bar, the Carnegie Kin's Body Found?

NORWALK, Conn., July 1 (INS)—An unidentified and partly decomposed body of a man believed to have been in his early thirties, was found in Norwalk harbor today by Harvey Jarvis, fisherman. It lodged in his fish net.

Police turned the body over to Medical Examiner William H. McMahon, who said it had been in the water two or three months.

Police checked with New York authorities on the possibility the body might have been that of Andrew Carnegie Whitfield, 28, wealthy nephew of Andrew Carnegie, steel magnate, who disappeared while on a short hop from Roosevelt Field, Long Island, on April 15.

An hour later, at 1 p. m., a plane, which suddenly disappeared from view, was reported sighted over Norwalk Harbor.

On the strength of these reports medical examiner McMahon stated he would perform an autopsy to determine whether the body was that of Whitfield.

Just a Little Hill

LOS ANGELES, July 1 (AP)—Man Mountain Dean, 317-pound bearded wrestler and an avowed candidate for the Georgia legislature, today received a telegram from his wife at Norcross, Ga., advising that he was a father.

He said the telegram told him the newcomer was "a boy, weight 11½ pounds."

Money in Tummy—Jeanette Taylor, 4, of South End, smiles contentedly at City Hospital, perfectly aware that while her face is one fortune, she has a nickel more in her tummy—a nickel that doctors want to get back into circulation.

Take Slicker On That Trip!

If you're bound to forget something when you pack for a trip over this holiday week-end, better let it be your toothbrush rather than your raincoat, the weather man advised today.

He glumly predicted cloudy skies and showers for today, tonight and Saturday.

Viewing a map which showed unsettled conditions over all the area east of the upper Mississippi valley, the forecaster declined to be quoted concerning prospects of sunshine Sunday and Monday.

Grossman Flays Judicial 'Deal'

"Tuckerman sent his horse to the post with Lieutenant-Governor Kelly in the saddle, but it wasn't a photo finishe. He picked the wrong jockey."

That was the reply voiced by Joseph B. Grossman, member of the governor's council, to the charge made by his fellow councillor, Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., that a "deal" existed to bring about the appointment of a Republican judge in Plymouth county in return for the confirmation of Judge John A. Costello to Essex probate court.

Timilty Names 6 Police Captains

Six promotions to police captaincies were announced by Police Commissioner Timilty today, as follows:

Lieutenant John J. McArdle, Charlestown, traffic detail.

Lieutenant Lawrence Dunn, harbor police.

Lieutenant Edward Keating, Station 15, Charlestown.

Lieutenant Frank McNabb, hackney carriage bureau.

Inspector James Eagan, Station 13, Jamaica Plain.

Transfers ordered were:

Captain James Mullen, to Station 1, North End;

Lieutenant Leonard O'Connell, from Charlestown to police headquarters;

Captain Thomas Kavanagh, from North End to police headquarters, office of superintendent of cases.

Promotions and transfers are effective next Wednesday, subject to Mayor Hobin's final O. K.

If certain retirements are approved, it is expected seven new lieutenants and six new sergeants may be named next week.

TYPHOON TOLL 134

TOKIO, July 1 (INS)—Death toll in the floods, typhoon and earthquake that devastated the Tokio, Yokohama and other areas of Japan was estimated officially today at 134.
